Movie plot -
America is really a graveyard for dear souls around the world in the afterlife
And reality TV wakes everyone up eventually ghosts figure out how to persuade the world they are all dead and a terrorist becomes president and presses the big red button to kill us all into the afterlife so we are all technically alive again instead of just America being a graveyard everywhere is a graveyard except God takes over hell and turns into heaven double earth theory etc. Psy-fi